WHEREAS, the Parties entered into a confidentiality agreement and stipulation, which was submitted to the Court, and so-ordered on November 13, 2019 (Dkt. No. 30);

WHEREAS, the Parties after meeting and conferring have agreed to certain additional protections for the handling of confidential information exchanged during discovery, as described herein;

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration for the terms and conditions herein, the Parties agree as follows:

1. This Stipulation shall govern the production and use of all documents (as that term is defined by Local Civil Rule 26.3(c)(2)), deposition testimony (including all transcription and video-taped recordings of testimony), deposition exhibits, answers to interrogatories and requests for admission, and other written, recorded or graphic discovery materials between the Parties in the Litigation (“Discovery Material”). A Party that produces Discovery Material is hereinafter referred to as a “Producing Party,” and a Party that receives Discovery Material is hereinafter referred to as a “Receiving Party.”

2. “Confidential Information” means any Discovery Material that the Producing Party designates as Confidential pursuant to this Stipulation, provided however that Confidential Information shall not include any Discovery Material or portions thereof which: (a) presently are or hereafter become available to the Receiving Party on a non-confidential basis from the Producing Party; or (b) the Producing Party acknowledges has become available to the public other than as a result of a disclosure by a Receiving Party in violation of this Stipulation, such acknowledgment not to be unreasonably withheld. At any time prior to trial in this Litigation, any Discovery Material inadvertently produced without a confidentiality designation, may subsequently be designated by the Producing Party as Confidential Information by so informing the Receiving Party, in writing.

3. The Receiving Party will afford “attorneys-eyes-only” treatment to the Confidential Information, and will not disclose the Confidential Information to its employees, officers, directors, representatives, agents, or any other party, except that the Receiving Party may disclose such information to:

- a. its attorneys of record in this Litigation;
- b. as to any document, its author, its addressee, and any other person indicated on the face of the document as having received a copy;
- c. any witness called to testify at deposition or any witness whom counsel for a party in good faith believes may be called to testify at trial or deposition in this action, provided such person has first executed the declaration attached as Exhibit A (the “Acknowledgment”) in accordance with paragraph 4, and provided that such person is not permitted to retain any Confidential Information following the deposition;
- d. agents, consultants, and retained experts of the Receiving Party upon their acknowledgment of receipt and acceptance of the terms of this Stipulation, and who have executed the Acknowledgment in accordance with paragraph 4;
- e. stenographers engaged to transcribe depositions conducted in this Litigation;
- f. persons necessary to comply with applicable law or the valid order of a court of competent jurisdiction; provided, however, that in the event of a disclosure compelled by law or court order, the Receiving Party will notify the Producing Party as promptly as practicable (if at all possible, prior to making such disclosure) and shall seek a protective order or confidential treatment of the Confidential Information; and
- g. the Court and its support personnel.

4. Persons proposed under paragraph 3(c) or 3(d) shall be identified, in writing, to the Producing Party's counsel (2) business days in advance of any disclosure of Confidential Information to such person. If the Receiving Party proposes disclosure to a person under paragraph 3(c) or 3(d), such Receiving Party shall provide to the Producing Party, upon request, a copy of the Acknowledgment executed by such person. Under no circumstances shall any person referenced in paragraph 3(c) or 3(d) be allowed to review any Confidential Information unless such person has executed a copy of the Acknowledgment.

5. The Receiving Party shall not use any Confidential Information for any purpose other than this Litigation.

6. The Receiving Party shall use its best efforts to prevent disclosure of Confidential Information to any unpermitted third party.

7. All Confidential Information furnished to a Receiving Party by a Producing Party shall remain in the sole possession and custody of the Receiving Party, and shall be destroyed or returned to the Producing Party within ten business days of the final disposition in this Litigation, along with any copies thereof. The Parties shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that all experts and consultants they have retained abide by this provision.

8. The Parties acknowledge that unauthorized disclosure of Confidential Information will cause irreparable harm to the Producing Party. If a Receiving Party breaches its obligations hereunder, the Producing Party shall be entitled to seek injunctive relief to protect its interests, in addition to all other rights and remedies available at law or equity.

9. If any Party seeks to file Confidential Information with the Court, or to file any portions of pleadings, motions, deposition transcripts or other papers that disclose or include Confidential Information, such Party shall request that the filing be redacted or made under seal, as applicable, in accordance with Judge Netburn's or Judge Torres' Individual Practices in Civil Cases. The Parties will use their reasonable efforts to minimize the filing of Discovery Material with redactions or under seal.

10. Any Party who either objects to any designation of confidentiality, or who requests further limits on disclosure, may at any time prior to the trial in this Litigation serve upon counsel for the other Party a written notice stating with particularity the grounds of the objection or request. If the Parties cannot reach prompt agreement concerning the objection, and the objecting Party may seek recourse from the Court by following the procedures set forth for raising discovery disputes in Judge Netburn's or Judge Torres' Individual Practices in Civil Cases. Notwithstanding any challenge to the designation of Discovery Material as "Confidential Information," all Discovery Material designated as such must be treated as such and as subject to this Stipulation until one of the following occurs: (a) the designating Party withdraws its confidentiality designation in writing; or (b) the Court decides the Discovery Material at issue is not appropriately designated as confidential.

11. Neither Party shall be obligated to challenge the propriety of a confidentiality designation. Failure to raise such a challenge shall not constitute an admission that any Discovery Material is in fact Confidential Information.

12. Nothing in this Stipulation shall prevent disclosure of Confidential Information beyond the terms of this Stipulation if the Producing Party consents to such disclosure, in writing, or if the Court orders such disclosure.

13. This Stipulation shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without giving effect to principles of conflict of laws.

14. This Stipulation is the complete and exclusive statement of the agreement among the Parties, and supersedes all prior written and oral communications and agreements, relating to the subject matter hereof.

15. In the event of invalidity of any provision of this Stipulation, the Parties agree that such invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Stipulation, and further agree to substitute for the invalid provision a valid provision which most closely resembles the intent and economic effect of the invalid provision.

16. This Stipulation may be signed in counterparts and by facsimile.

17. This Stipulation shall survive conclusion of the Litigation.

18. The Court will retain jurisdiction over the terms and conditions of this Stipulation only for the pendency of the Litigation.

19. This Stipulation does not bind the Court or any of its personnel.
